LAST DAY OF CLASSES - WEDNESDAY

To celebrate the end of the first semester for 1st yr. students, the half-way point for 2d yr., and the beginning of the coast home for 3d yr., Student Affairs is having a wine and cheese party in the Student Lounge on Wed. from 2-5:30 p.m. Wine, cheese and crackers will be served, and all students, faculty, and staff are invited. Those afternoon and evening classes will be easier to take.

TACOMA HOUSING CLINIC

THC says: Housing Clinic Rolls On! On Tuesday, Nov. 27, Carolyn (Tex) Findley presented the proposed Housing Clinic to the Tacoma City Council. Interviewed afterwards by a local TV station, Carolyn again denied persistent rumors that she will seek the Democratic nomination for President. First-year students interested in housing and land-use problems are urged to get involved with the THC committee.

REGISTRATION

Don't forget to register for second semester this week.

WARNING!

Any students who will be spending long hours studying for finals here at the law school should take precautionary measures to protect themselves and their property. There have been reports of vandalism to autos parked at night in the upper lot and in the alley behind the law school. There was also a report of a purse snatching and assault recently. If you're here at night move your car to the front of the school. Also don't be afraid to ask someone to walk you to your car.

SBA

In keeping with the SBA Governing Council's policy of active student participation in student government, a student forum meeting was held last Tues. Only 4 people showed up and that includes the members of the Council. It should be pointed out that no notice was given to the student body concerning the meeting—not through this publication or even a note on the Blackboard (although there was a notice in the upstairs women's restroom). Let's hope the Council can maintain its fine record next semester.

FINALS

Exams begin this Saturday. Good luck everyone! If you need a break from the books the campus film this weekend is a Pink Panther movie. Showings are Friday and Saturday nights.

Some advice: Don't panic and don't let those people who sound like they know everything psyche you out.

NO PR UNTIL NEXT SEMESTER

The PR won't be published again until next semester because your editors are getting FP.

Just in case some of you may have forgotten, Christmas comes in December too so Happy Holidays!

Congratulations December Graduates!
